THE HELLKVISTS, FAMOUS HIGH DIVERS, AT STEEPLECHASE

The Hellkvists, celebrated high divers, opened an engagement at Steeplechase Island this afternoon in their high, fancy and fire diving act. From the top of a tower of their own construction, 100 feet high, they make 12 thrilling dives at every performance. The act comes with the strongest endorsements to Captain Boyton from other cities where it has been presented. The dives are made into a shallow tank and plain diving is done at night flaming costumes are worn.

Pastor Attacks John D. and Bernard Shaw

Boston, July 12.—Boston religious circles are stirred to-day as the result of some very plain speaking by the Rev. H. E. Gilchrist in opening the series of summer services in the Old South Meeting House here in which the pastor sharply attacked John D. Rockefeller and Bernard Shaw. Speaking on "Practical Religion in the Twentieth Century," he said:

"Men satisfy the demands of religion by doing nothing out to charity money made by dividends on watered stock, when they settle back in snug satisfaction and say to themselves, 'Well done thou good and faithful servant.' They bribe civilization and so attempt to bribe the infinite. What this age needs is not charity but plain justice. There is confusion of ethical ideals; the man in the street is too busy gambling to attend to spiritual duties. No moral standard is shown in our morals on the stage or that abomination, Shaw's 'Man and Superman.'"

AUTO CYCLE FALLS BEFORE AUTOMOBILE

Cycle is Damaged and E. G. Bishop, Owner, Slightly Injured—Car Driven by Kansas Man.

E. G. Bishop, of 484 Broad street, was run down by a Kansas automobile, while riding his motor cycle in East Main street, Saturday evening. In company with R. J. Steiner, of 730 Noble avenue, and while crossing Barnum avenue, he was struck by the motor car. Bishop tried to avoid a collision by turning into Barnum avenue. His wheel slipped on the wet pavement and he was thrown in front of the automobile. Wheel and rider were pushed through the road in front of the car for about 25 feet before it was brought to a stop. The driver gave his name as Charles Payne of Kansas City and left his address with Bishop. The latter says he does not blame the automobilist. Bishop was badly bruised and his motor cycle was damaged to the extent of $50.

THAT SNUB TO HILL

SPEAKER CANNON INCIDENTALLY ADMITS HIS AT PRESIDENT

Gossip About This Autocratic Stroke Weakness of His "Explanation" Is Apparent at the First Glance.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—It has been well understood for some time that Congressman Hill would not be allowed on the tariff conference committee. Mr. Hill and his friends have been hoping, however, that Cannon—whatever his supply of gall—would not quite venture on such a radical departure from precedent which he proposes to respect. But, when the time came, on went Mr. Hill's head. This summary action has excited so much criticism that the speaker yesterday afternoon gave out an "explanation." His friends wish now that he had kept still, for it is an explanation that does not explain.

It seems that Mr. Cannon shoved Hill off because of geographical distribution, population (which means votes) and wealth had to be considered. Now the Senate conference was named first, and these represented Rhode Island, Maine, Michigan, Illinois and Pennsylvania. Cannon's geographical distribution, Mr. Cannon selects also representatives of Michigan, Illinois and Pennsylvania, passing over Longworth, Ohio; Cyprien, of Indiana; Gaines of West Virginia; and Needham from California, who are understood not to agree with all the up-to-date revision of the tariff. The autocratic speaker, doubling the representation of three states, he left all the country west of Kansas unrepresented. As for wealth, it is known at the treasury department that the wealth of the country is in the East and a large proportion of it in Connecticut; and, while it is true that they are found in the great Middle West, it happens that the sentiments they represent are not reflected in Cannon or his appointees from that region.

Coming into New England, Cannon took McCall of Massachusetts instead of Hill of Connecticut. Possibly this was for President Taft's benefit, and to teach him a lesson, for McCall is an out-and-out opponent of Taft's Philippine policy, while Hill is known to stand by the President in all matters and to be his close friend. The question is being asked whether Taft hasn't been fooled, it is the rumor that he helped to get Cannon the speakership when Hill and others like him held the balance him a tariff bill would be glad to sign. Now the question is whether there will be a bill that he can sign. It is admitted that Cannon aspired to be President and that he was nominated for President and that there was a large and powerful cabal determined that Taft should not get there anyway; and it looks as if these doubtful friends of Taft had a good deal of the situation at present and might try to put him in a hole. Beside this, in Hill's case, is the fact that he had the impudence to go in for the senatorship when Aldrich and his crowd demanded the re-election of Brandegee. A man of Hill's stamp was not wanted in the Senate nor on any conference committee where his thorough knowledge of the principles and details of the tariff and his positive convictions would have made him a force. It is believed that "the interests" have abundant friends in the conference.

AUTO-CHEMICAL NOT TO ANSWER "STILL ALARMS"

Under new rules made by the fire commissioners the automobile chemical engine no longer answers all still alarms of fire, but will continue to answer all bell alarms. Certain still alarm districts have been mapped out for the engine companies which have chemical apparatus attached to their hose wagons. The districts are reasonably small so that the hose apparatus would be able to make as good time as the automobile, coming from a far distance, in reaching the fire.

The three engine companies covering the most thickly settled portions of the city, No. 1, No. 2, and No. 5, are exempt from still alarm duty and their districts are covered at all times by the crew of No. 1 Chemical Co. automobile. All the still alarms from the northwestern part of the city are covered by No. 2 chemical engine company which has quarters in Maplewood avenue.

The big map at fire headquarters showing the division of the city into a patch of territory in Blaine road for the automobile to cover which does not include the First tax district. This section is difficult for No. 7 engine company to reach as they are obliged to go in a round about way to get there.

The still alarm territory of the chemical engine company, under Capt. Hammill, goes as far south as the west side of the river as South avenue, west of Park avenue while the northernly portion of its district extends along Harrah avenue to Lexington avenue, to Washington avenue, to Main street, to Grand street, to Hurd avenue, to Lincoln avenue, to Lexington avenue, to Lincoln avenue, to Lindley street to the railroad, along the railroad line to Island Brook avenue.

THE INTELLECTUAL ASPECT that a pair of eye glasses affords sometimes induce people to wear them who would not otherwise do so. That is all right when the glasses are needed. On the other hand, some people who need them will go without them because they do not like the appearance of them. That is the great mistake. It eventually costs one dearly. Don't let a whim stand in the way of future happiness. CONNECTICUT MILITIA TO HAVE NEW TRAINING IN A BIG WAR GAME

Fifteen Thousand Men Will Be Taken in Transports to Massachusetts to Make An Attack Upon Coast—Invaders Will Be Met By Massachusetts Militiamen 7,000 Strong.

The entire strength of the Connecticut National Guard, with the exception of the Coast artillery companies, about 2,000 men, are to be mobilized in New Haven in August, and embarked on army transports to be barked upon that city by the war department, will be conveyed to some place in Massachusetts to take part in the war game to be played by the national guard organizations of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and the District of Columbia, from Aug. 14 to 21.

The companies will proceed to New Haven by special train and board the transports at that point. All the details for the Connecticut National Guard have been arranged by Adjutant General George M. Cole, following a conference held in Hartford with Governor Wood and Major General Leonard Wood, U. S. A. At least three army transports will go to New Haven to take the national guard, and land in the eastward. The Connecticut militiamen, with the New York National guardmen, will form the attacking party which will be in charge of either General Wetherstoun or General Bliss.

In a general way the problem which the 15,000 odd militiamen will be called upon to work out is to capture the country by the regiments from this section and its defense by the men from Massachusetts. The battleground is roughly a quadrilateral shape, outlined by the cities of Boston, Taunton, New Bedford and Plymouth. Any place in this part of the state will be open to the invading forces as a landing place. It is assumed that they will take advantage of their enemy by selecting the most unexpected point of attack, and the spot that will be well depend upon the invading commander's opinion of the way in which the defense is posted. The invaders are to be made up of a brigade from the District of Columbia, a brigade from New York and one from this state. Two regiments will be sent from the neighborhood of Washington and the same number from this state. What regiments there will be has not yet been fixed. From New York it has about been decided that the Twenty-second, the Fourteenth and Seventh will form the brigade. It is also probable that some New York light artillery batteries will go along.

Gen. Few, who is to have command of the Massachusetts brigades, is to be ready for the attack any time after the morning of Aug. 14. With him there will be an army officer as umpire, and another will accompany the capturing troops. Gen. Wood said that these umpires wouldn't be picked until the last minute, but they would probably be army men from states not represented by the fighters. He would judge the manoeuvres, too, and there would be a number of assistant umpires besides to cover the big territory over which the mimic battles will be waged.

Inasmuch as this ground lies south of Boston and some little distance from Beverly, where President Taft is staying, Gen. Wood was not at all sure that the chief executive would be on hand to watch the game. But he thought they were a chance that the president would drop in on them for a day or two to look things over. The defense will total about 7,000 men, selected from the Fifth, Sixth, Eighth and Ninth regiments of infantry, three troops of cavalry from Boston and the three troops of field artillery from Boston, Worcester and Lawrence. The coast artillery of Massachusetts will contribute twenty companies to the defense. Seven regiments of infantry, six troops of cavalry and five field batteries will, it is understood make up the invading army.
